

OutdoorCollection

*A product taking its origin from the forest, drawing inspiration from the colours of the forest and the twists of the wood grains.
An idea taking wellness to the open air with a multitude of forms and dimensions.*

The OutdoorCollection represents Starpool interpretation of the Nordic culture based on the use of outdoor spaces to create places where you can restore and devote to the taking care of your body. A wide range of layouts which, in all their configurations, propose healthy and balanced wellness experiences. Like in a real Spa, the OutdoorCollection will not make you give up the functionality of a well-conceived environment, still respecting the right posology of heat, cold and rest. With the OutdoorCollection, “refreshment” becomes the most authentic experience: a dive into the snow, a plunge in cold water or simply the biting freshness of open-air relax.

Heat. Cold. Rest.

NatureSauna

Designer firm aledolci&co. is the author of Nature Sauna for Starpool. This sauna was designed to be in synergy with the environment, evolving with it as time goes by and giving back to “its residents” a sense of belonging and immersion in the landscape.

The building, man and nature become one through the building materials which have been selected to react as one to the context.

The brushed copper used for the protection of wood will oxidize differently according to climate and the wooden coating that is exposed to atmospheric agents will take unique connotations.

Nature Sauna is an oasis where it is possible to feel and to benefit from the regenerating power of natural cycles, all year round and in any climate.

The wide range of dimensions and layouts, in combination with easy installation, makes this product ideal for every outdoor context, from extreme to domestic contexts.

Data Sheet

Nature Sauna is proposed in three different dimensions, each including a heated entrance compass, and offering a more compact layout without gallery. The fir structure in the thermo-treated light or dark waxed version grants sustainability and natural harmonic ageing. The brushed-copper surfaces contribute warm and home-like features in addition to providing protection to the most sensitive areas.

OpenAirSauna

The architectural design by the Florence-based designer firm Cipuelle has succeeded in melting the perfection of the home architectural system in Xlam wood into the neat lines characterising Starpool design.

Starpool modular outdoor is quick to build and offers an outstanding functionality.

The single block construction, including the floor and walls complete with doors and windows, simplifies the entire building process and reduces the project execution times by up to 80%. The supporting structure consists of thick wooden boards, placed orthogonally and assembled in crossed layers.

This is a revolutionary system which speeds up assembly operations on the building site. Furthermore, it is designed and made to save energy. The natural insulating qualities and the low conductivity of wood create a building shell where the heating requirements in winter and the cooling requirements in summer are minimal.

Data Sheet

“The use of two different woods to coat the external and the internal walls creates curious contrasts with a pleasant dichromatic effect.”
